TIMELESS FINANCIAL WISDOM

Financial peace isn't the acquisition of stuff. It's learning to live on less than you make, so you can give money back and have money to invest. You can't win until you do this."

TAX-SAVING INSIGHT OF THE MONTH

Worried about the financial challenges of supporting dependents with disabilities?

Take advantage of a deduction under Sec 80DD of the Income Tax Act to alleviate some of the expenses associated with the maintenance and medical treatment of a dependent with a disability.

For Resident Individuals or HUFs, this deduction applies to medical expenses for dependents. If the disablement falls between 40% to 80%, you can claim a deduction of 75,000, and for disablement exceeding 80%, a deduction of 1,25,000 is allowed. To qualify, obtain a disability certificate from an authorized medical professional.

The term 'Dependant' includes the spouse, children, parents, brothers, and sisters of the individual taxpayer or any combination thereof. For an HUF, it encompasses a member dependent on the individual or HUF for support and maintenance, who has not claimed any deduction under Section 80U (pertaining to self with a disability) in their total income calculation for the assessment year. Covered disabilities under Section 80DD of the IT Act, 1961, include Mental illness, Hearing impairment, Mental retardation, Cerebral palsy, Leprosy-cured, Autism, Locomotor disability, Blindness, and Low vision."

INVESTOR SUCCESS STORY

SIP TRANSFORMS VEGETABLE SELLER'S SON INTO AN ENGINEERING GRADUATE

An inspiring story of how a vegetable seller's son was able to become an engineering graduate. The story highlights the transformative impact of modest investments on personal life.

On a tranquil Sunday morning, an unexpected visitor, Malati rang my doorbell, her face beaming with excitement, sweet packet in hand. Inviting them in, I sensed good news. Malati, barely able to contain her joy, shared that her son secured a placement in an MNC during his final year of engineering. Tears of pride filled her eyes.

I vividly recall the day I first encountered Malati at the local market, selling vegetables with her 5-year-old son by her side. Learning about her difficult past, having left her husband due to domestic violence, and now residing in a nearby chawl with her son, I decided to assist her. I facilitated her son's education, enrolled him in a local school, and advised her to save for her son's higher education and her own old age. We navigated the bureaucracy, obtained her voter ID and PAN card, and opened a bank account. I guided her to start an SIP with a modest ₹500 in an Equity Mutual Fund, emphasizing its future potential. Over time, Malati increased her SIP contributions.

As the years passed, Malati's son progressed to high school and successfully cleared the engineering entrance exam. When funds were needed for his admission, I assisted in redeeming the required amount. She continued with her SIP, and today, she stands as a proud mother. Her son aspires for her to cease selling vegetables, and they plan to move into an apartment once he secures a job. Malati, proud of her son's achievements, is also aware that she can now financially support herself. The power of compounding in SIP investments has granted her Financial Independence.

Our society harbors many like Malati—underprivileged individuals lacking awareness of saving and investment. Their lives can be transformed with a small effort. If you are already benefiting from SIP, consider extending the benefits to others by spreading awareness about SIP and positively impacting lives. Together, we can build a stronger society.

The Importance of Designating Nominees for Your Investments

Designating nominees for your investments ensures a seamless asset transition, legal protection, and financial security, streamlining processes and simplifying estate planning for prudent investors.

Designating a nominee for all your investments is a critical aspect of financial planning and security. A nominee is an individual or entity entrusted with safeguarding investors' securities or property, holding them in their name while the investor maintains control. Below are compelling reasons to have a nominee for your investments:

Smooth Transition of Assets:

A nominee plays a crucial role in ensuring the seamless transfer of assets to the designated individual in the unfortunate event of the investor's demise. This proactive step helps prevent complications and delays in the asset distribution process.

Financial Security:

In the case of financial instruments such as life insurance policies or Mutual Fund Folios, specifying a nominee ensures that the intended beneficiary receives the proceeds promptly. This contribution to their financial security is invaluable during challenging times.

Faster Settlement:

The presence of a nominee expedites the settlement process, enabling quicker and more efficient distribution of assets. This becomes particularly crucial during difficult periods for the family, offering a streamlined resolution.

In conclusion, having a nominee for your investments not only streamlines processes but also provides legal protection and simplifies estate planning, making it a prudent choice for investors. Many investment platforms offer options to add multiple nominees, allowing you to allocate specified percentages for each nominee, enhancing flexibility and control.
